Costantino Real Estate LLC is a full service real estate company serving the Ossipee Lake area and surrounding towns, featuring 7 full time agents, consistent proven results with top market share. For outstanding service please call or email any one of these agents.
Welcome from the Greater Ossipee Area Chamber of Commerce!

Whether this is your first visit to the Ossipee Valley area or one of many annual pilgrimages, know that you are warmly welcomed!

Nestled between the White Mountains and the Lakes Region, the six towns that make up the region: Effingham, Freedom, Madison, Ossipee, Sandwich and Tamworth are steeped in history that is reflected today in the character of the people and the landscape, and all that they celebrate.

A fusion of contemporary and Colonial, the Ossipee Valley area is not only a spectacular four-season vacation destination, but an ideal place to raise a family and grow a business.
The Greater Ossipee Area Chamber of Commerce is here to serve you as a visitor, resident, business and family, throughout the year. This guidebook is one example of our many services, providing information to visitors and showcasing our local businesses, events and activities. On the following pages you’ll become familiar with each of the area’s six towns: the story of their roots, event highlights, must-see places and must-do activities.

You are also most welcome to drop by our Information Center, where you’ll find a large selection of brochures to help you make the most of your visit to the area. The Center is located in front of the Tramway Artisans building at 2328 White Mountain Hwy. (Rt. 16) at the intersection with Rt. 25 in West Ossipee. Our office phone number is 603-651-1600. You’ll also find more information and the most current calendar of events at ossipeevalley.org.

On a final welcoming note, we invite you to revisit the Ossipee Valley area, season after season, year after year – or better still, why not consider relocating here and get to stay and play or work in the place locals are fortunate to call home?

Warmly,

The Greater Ossipee Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors

The information booth, located at the intersection of Rts. 16 and 25, is open beginning Memorial Day weekend. Stop by to get all the local information you might need when you visit the area.
Effingham

A scenic drive through Effingham today is full of surprising remnants from the past. Settlers were drawn to the area not only for its beauty but also for the powerful and abundant waters of the Ossipee River. Originally known as Leavitt’s Town after the family who settled the area, Governor Benning Wentworth granted the land in 1749 and renamed it after the Earl of Effingham to whom he was related by marriage. Effingham was incorporated in 1778, and later in 1831, the section north of Ossipee River was incorporated separately as the town of Freedom.

Once the Effingham Falls were harnessed to generate electricity in 1820, the town became a prosperous and industrious community supported by grist and saw mills, wool and carriage factories, attracting many supporting small businesses and services into the area. Back in the 1800s Effingham was more populated than today.

The town is made up of four distinct districts or villages: Effingham Falls, Lord’s Hill, and Center and South Effingham, best viewed by taking a leisurely drive along Route 153. Bounded by lakes to the north and south, the area is criss-crossed with rivers and brooks, and dominated in the center by the crests of Welch Top, Hanson Top and Green Mountain.

Center Effingham sits atop a hill crowned by an imposing Italianate building dating back to 1861. Originally built to house the New England Masonic Charitable Institute, along with meeting rooms for the Masonic Lodge, it has also served as the town hall and today houses the Effingham Library. The Masonic Temple is open only twice a year to the public, the 3rd Saturday in October (for the NH Statewide Freemason Open House) and during the Drakes’s Corner Street Fair (6/20/20) from 9am to 2pm. Also located within walking distance are the Effingham Historical Society building (formerly Drake’s Store), the Effingham Preservation building (formerly Effingham Grange), and the Baptist Church.
To the north is the Lord’s Hill district of Effingham, elegantly displaying an extraordinary collection of grand, stately old homes and historic buildings, including Squire Lord’s Great House and Tavern, and the Lord’s Hill Meeting House, which features a Paul Revere bell crafted in 1821. Lord’s Hill and several of its buildings are on the National Register of Historic Places. A comprehensive description and history can be found at www.livingplaces.com.

South Effingham, locally known as Taylor City, sits on a sharp bend in Route 153 that straddles two states, two counties and two towns. On the NH side of the bend you’ll find Ye Old Sale Shoppe and on the Maine side, Country Gas General Store, run by father and son team Earle and Bill Taylor.
With its eastern boundary running along the Maine border and abutting Ossipee Lake, Freedom is a little town surrounding a small village well off the beaten path. Its name reflects its history: in 1831, the village of North Effingham voted to secede from Effingham, and in 1832, the new town celebrated its independence by changing its name to Freedom.

Sample the town’s history by visiting the historical society that maintains a charming museum, or by driving the back roads with many historic houses. Each year near Christmas, a group in town hosts a historic house tour, where private individuals open their beautifully decorated homes to visitors. Residents in town also have a Ring in the Holidays craft fair that is held at various locations throughout town. The town has been the setting for a couple of stories, including the children’s fantasy book called The Enormous Egg by Oliver Butterworth, first published in 1956 but reissued years later.

Present-day and former residents gather in town every year for Freedom Old Home Week that takes place in August. This year the events run from July 31 - August 9. The event was created to encourage people to come back to their roots to enjoy many different social events through the week. Freedom is one of only five towns throughout the state that still celebrates a full Old Home Week. Activities are varied and include a myriad of events that bring current and former residents and their families together. For a complete schedule, visit www.freedomoldhomeweek.net.

Residents and visitors alike enjoy the Trout Pond Town Forest. This 2,600-acre parcel, located north of Ossipee...
Lake Road, was purchased with public and private donations to save it from development. With the pond located at its heart, it is an ideal place to enjoy such low-impact activities as hiking, biking, and bird-watching in the spring and summer, and skiing and snowmobiling in the winter.

In its continuing efforts to protect open space and maintain responsible growth, the town’s planning board updated the master plan and has made recycling mandatory for anyone using the town’s transfer station.

In the summer, the population of Freedom more than doubles when children from all over the country settle into the numerous summer camps located on the shores of Ossipee Lake for hiking, boating and swimming.
Madison

Madison, with a population of more than 2,500 people, is a charming and dynamic town that offers a touch of history with many outdoor attractions. While Silver Lake, located at the town’s heart, provides numerous opportunities for boating, fishing, and swimming, many find the Madison Boulder catches them off guard. This large glacial erratic left behind from a melting glacier can be found off Route 113 heading north towards Conway. It is much larger than many can imagine at 37 feet long and weighing 4,660 tons.

In its early years, farming and lumbering were the town’s main enterprises, and lumbering continues to be a major industry. In 1826, the Madison Lead Mine, on the site of the Goodwin Town Forest, was discovered, and for many years yielded zinc, lead, silver and iron ore.

“Madison Corner”, as it was once known, prospered because it was on a major stagecoach route connecting Boston and other seacoast towns with the White Mountains. In 1875, a railroad was completed along the shores of Silver Lake, and many new businesses opened in that area to accommodate the growing tourist trade. Tourism is still a prominent part of Madison’s economy with a resort, and ski area.

As with many towns in the area that have a lake, Madison has a history of well-known people who summered in the area. One such person was E. E. Cummings, a poet known for the independence of style in his writing. Madison’s Old Home Week is the first full week in August, and brings many former citizens home for a weeklong celebration of small town life. When in town, stop by the Madison Boulder, hike the cascade’s trail behind the historical society, visit the train museum by the Silver Lake Post Office, take a swim in one of Madison’s many lakes, or hike any of the town’s several trails.

Visit www.madison-nh.org for up-to-date information.
Ossipee

Encompassing the villages of Center Ossipee, Granite, Ossipee Corners, Water Village, and West Ossipee, the area is abundant with natural and historic points of interest. Home to the county seat for Carroll County, it shares its name with the Ossipee Mountains, once a range of ancient volcanoes, which border it on the west. The town is a geologist’s dream, with portions of the volcanic “ring dike” from the Ossipee Mountains still visible.

Ossipee was incorporated in 1785 after an active pre-Revolutionary War history of skirmishes between Native Americans and British settlers. Captain John Lovewell built a fort near Ossipee Lake in the early 1700s using the foundation of a former fort which the English built in 1650 to assist the Ossipee Indians in their war against the Mohawks.

Today, Ossipee is a growing, thriving town made up of charming villages scattered throughout the hills. Shops filled with unusual crafts and antiques dot the country roads. Locals, summer residents, and guests enjoy all of Ossipee’s natural resources - fishing on Ossipee Lake, kayaking down the Bearcamp River, swimming at the town beach on Duncan Lake, hiking in the mountains, or visiting with friends and family at summer concerts. Snowmobiling is another popular sport in the area. Trails crisscross town and continue to all other parts of the state. Ossipee is the home of the first snowmobile.

Sandwich is rich in natural beauty and history, outdoor activities and cultural events year round. Craft demonstrations, classes, art gallery exhibits, and theatrical performances are offered to residents and visitors alike. Swimming, boating, biking, hiking, cross-country skiing, skating, bird watching or just enjoying a picnic at a scenic spot along a boulder-strewn river are just some of the ways to experience Sandwich year round. The town lies sheltered by the Sandwich Mountain Range, with 17 listed peaks, including Sandwich Dome, and the newly expanded Sandwich Wilderness Area. Many beautiful hikes can be found in the area.

To the south sits Squam Lake, the state’s second largest lake, notable as the location for the film On Golden Pond. The pristine, spring fed lake is home to generations of vacationing families drawn to reconnecting with nostalgic traditions and activities of days gone by.

Chartered in 1763, Sandwich was named in honor of John Montagu, the fourth Earl of Sandwich. The land was considered so inaccessible that the grant was enlarged, making Sandwich one of the largest towns in New Hampshire. After a peak of manufacturing and farming in 1830, many moved to the cities. What now attracts people to the area is its rural beauty and propensity for the artistic. The Sandwich Farmers’ Market offers baked goods and produce each Saturday morning from 9 am to noon throughout the summer under the shade trees by the Samuel H. Wentworth Library. There is an Art Show on the Green in August during Old Home Week.

The Sandwich Fair runs during...
There are 17 listed peaks to hike in the Sandwich area. Some of the more notable include: Sandwich Mountain or Dome, Mt Israel, and Mt Tripyramid.

With so many trails and nature areas to explore, your best bet is to pick up a guide or hiking book, and a good map from a local bookstore.

Some suggested hikes:
- Bearcamp River Trail
- Alice Bemus Thompson Wildlife Refuge
- Guinea Pond/Black Mountain Pond trails
- Chapman Wild Bird Sanctuary
- The Sandwich Notch Road

Tamworth

Five picturesque villages - Tamworth, Whittier, South Tamworth, Chocorua, and Wonalancet - make up the town of Tamworth. Residents of all villages, with Mount Chocorua as their backdrop, have not only the natural beauty of the surrounding areas to appreciate but also a strong community. Tamworth Village has been featured as a backdrop for many postcards, calendars and puzzles. Flowing brooks, scenic vistas and a broad network of hiking, biking and skiing trails provide a natural playground to people of all ages visiting the Tamworth area. Rent or bring your own canoes or kayaks to explore the beautiful rivers that flow through town. The town is also host to many charitable organizations that have been in existence for years to help others in the area. With the Tamworth Community Nurse Association, which provides free nursing services to Tamworth residents, the Tamworth Caregivers, and many other grassroots organizations, there is a strong sense of support and community. The community is also a strong supporter of the arts, with the presence of The Barnstormers Theatre in the village that hosts summer season performances. The Remick Country Doctor Museum and Farm hosts events throughout the year focusing on such seasonal activities as ice harvesting, maple sugaring, hearth cooking and holiday dinners. Each year, the town hosts the Tamworth family day on the 4th of July, complete with a parade, music and food in the afternoon, all held in Tamworth Village. Visit www.tamworthnh.org.
A stroll through the villages of Tamworth and Chocorua is delightful with small antique and craft shops, galleries, country stores, ice cream and coffee shops and artist’s studios. While Whittier, Wonalancet and South Tamworth are much smaller, they manage to surprise with spectacular views and friendly, locally run businesses.

Tamworth Farmers Market: Summer mornings from 9 am to 1 pm at the Tamworth Unitarian Church. The winter schedule is online.

The Remick Museum, Tamworth: a country doctor museum and working farm with a calendar full of year-round events and programs.

The Barnstormers, Tamworth: take in a theater performance June through August. The theater season is often extended with performances presented in the venue by other local arts organizations.
You’ve come to the Greater Ossipee Area in search of something worth remembering. No matter the season, be it summer, fall, winter or spring, you’ll find endless opportunities to make once-in-a-lifetime experiences. Outdoor and indoor recreational opportunities allow everyone equal opportunity for larger grins, louder laughs and richer memories for folks of all ages. Located in a beautiful, scenic setting, the Greater Ossipee Area is a pivotal destination for those who want to reconnect with nature on hiking trails, lakes, and mountains. For those who’d rather stay indoors, restaurants and shopping experiences, as well as a rich historical and educational scene, cater to all. Did You Know?

❖ It was in the Lord’s Hill district of Effingham in 1830, that James W. Bradbury, later Senator for Maine, took charge of the Effingham Union Academy Building (1819) and established the First Normal School – the first college of its kind for training teachers. The idea was his own and entirely novel at the time.

❖ Back in 1926, local residents John and Millie Burke gifted 105 acres of land in the southern part of Madison to the town for $1 to be put aside for conservation. It was the first such gift to a town in the state of New Hampshire. Today it is known as Burke Town Forest.

❖ If you’ve ever wondered about those welcome signs as you enter Ossipee promoting it as the home of the first snowmobile, these machines were an adaptation of the Ford Model T, and invented and made in West Ossipee by Virgil D. White in the early 1910s. Originally, they were used by the Post Office and emergency crews to get around the area in the winter, and they later were used on polar expeditions.

❖ One of the oldest and most recognized craft organizations in the country, the League of New Hampshire Craftsmen, grew out of efforts to promote crafts in the mid-1920s. Mrs. Mary Coolidge opened a crafts shop in Center Sandwich and A. Cooper Ballentine started craft classes in Wolfeboro. They joined forces and ignited a craft movement that swept the state.

❖ The Chinook, New Hampshire’s official state dog, is a rare breed of sled dog raised in the early 1900s by Arthur Treadwell Walden of Wonalancet. Walden, along with his lead dog/stud named Chinook, was the lead driver and trainer on Richard Byrd’s 1929 Antarctic expedition.
Effingham lies partially on the Ossipee River watershed, home to the largest stratified-drift aquifer east of the Mississippi River. So, it is no surprise that the area abounds in rivers, ponds, lakes and streams ideal for fishing, kayaking, boating and swimming, including Province Lake, Ossipee River, Pine River and South River.

Freedom With its lakes and rivers, the town’s waterways cater to those who love to fish, kayak, swim and boat. In winter, Lake Ossipee turns into a winter playground for snowmobiling, ice fishing, cross-country skiing and snowshoeing, with spectacular views of Mount Chocorua and Mount Washington.

Madison Along with the larger Silver Lake and Purity Lake, many ponds and brooks traverse the area, inviting a lazy day to fish, swim, boat, sit on a sandy beach or do something a little more energetic like wakeboarding and water skiing.

Ossipee Locals and seasonal residents alike enjoy Ossipee’s natural resources - fishing on Ossipee Lake, kayaking down the Bearcamp River, or swimming at the town beach on Duncan Lake. Several companies offer boat, kayak and canoe rentals if you don’t have your own.

Tamworth Lakes, ponds and streams, including Lake Chocorua, White Lake and the Bearcamp River, offer kayaking, canoeing, fishing and swimming. Lake Chocorua in the winter delights snowmobilers, cross-country skiers and snowshoers. The town also has a farmer’s market.

On the Water...
FARMERS’ MARKETS
As if the opportunity to buy fresh, seasonal, nutritious local produce was not a sufficient reason to celebrate, farmers’ markets these days also offer a way to connect with people, places and history. Arrive with your shopping baskets to any of the area’s markets and you’ll be greeted with entertainment, artisan demonstrations and mouthwatering smells of food cooking. You’ll find our markets in village squares, community churches and town parks that offer comfortable places to sit and sample. In no time at all you’re making new friends and trading recipes over bundles of mindfully-raised produce. The market vendor is typically the farmer or baker or craftsperson who made or raised the item you’re purchasing.

FARM STANDS
Taking the road less traveled in the area is a joyful experience and easy to do. The scenic byways that take you past mountains, lakes and small towns also connect to wide open fields supporting agriculture and quality of life. Here you’ll find small honor-system farm stands, pick-your-own farms, and larger farms where you can buy all your provisions under one roof – fresh from the surrounding fields. You can have fun finding your way out of a corn maze, watch as ice cream is made in a dairy, treat yourself to a farm-to-table dinner, help boil sap into maple syrup, and learn from the experts about plants for your own veggie garden.

Welcome to New Hampshire’s last intact pitch pine–scrub oak woodland natural community, a globally rare forest type. Here you’ll find a diversity of uncommon wildlife, including nearly two dozen threatened and endangered moths and butterflies, and several declining bird species like whip-poor-will, common nighthawk and Eastern towhee. Beneath your feet, the forest serves as a natural filter for one of the Granite State’s largest “stratified-drift” aquifers, which ensures a constant and clean source of water for the area’s families and businesses.

Natural History

Roughly 15,000 years ago, the last of the great continental glaciers melted away from the Northeast. In its wake, torrents of water carried debris embedded in the ice. While heavier rocks and boulders were deposited quickly in the uplands to form what is known as “glacial till,” the finer sands and gravels washed to the lowlands and were often deposited in “proglacial” lakes—large bodies of water that collected south of the melting glacier. For some time, Ossipee and Silver lakes were combined as a proglacial lake, extending across the present-day gentle plain lying between them. Today, this is where the Ossipee Pine Barrens are found.

Pitch pine barrens thrive in the dry, acidic and infertile soil conditions of these sandy plains. Evergreen needles enable pitch pines to save energy by not having to reproduce leaves each season. They are also uniquely adapted to withstand and flourish in the frequent fires that occur due to the drought conditions.

In addition to pitch pines, common species in the Ossipee Pine Barrens include white pine, red spruce, and balsam fir. The barrens are home to a variety of flora and fauna, including many species of birds, butterflies, and moths. The area is managed to maintain these unique ecosystems, making it an ideal place for nature lovers and hikers alike.
plants found in the Ossipee Pine Barrens include scrub oak, black huckleberry, low-sweet blueberry, sweet fern and woodland sedge, as well as rare hairy hudsonia and slender-leaved goldenrod.

Protecting the Ossipee Pine Barrens

Early on, the Ossipee Pine Barrens were largely used for timber production. It was not until recent times that these lands began to be converted for housing, industry and other kinds of development—activities that continue to fragment the landscape each year.

Only 2,000 acres of pitch pine-scrub oak barrens are left in the Ossipee region, representing the last viable occurrence of this forest community in the state.

Furthermore, the Ossipee Barrens lie above the Saco-Ossipee Aquifer, the largest stratified-drift aquifer in the state.

Undeveloped portions of the barrens serve as recharge areas for this important resource that provides clean drinking water for the towns of Freedom, Madison, Ossipee and Effingham.

Because of its importance for both people and nature, The Nature Conservancy has long identified the Ossipee Pine Barrens as a conservation priority. Since 1988, we have protected more than 2,700 acres of critical habitat here, including: large, excellent examples of the rare pitch pine-scrub oak woodland; a quarter-mile of undeveloped shoreline on Ossipee Lake; much of Cook’s Pond and a stream connecting it with Silver Lake, a popular destination for local paddlers. There are many opportunities for hiking, kayaking, cross-country skiing, hunting and snowmobiling.

bark of a pitch pine and you’ll know instantly what sets it apart from other trees: The thick bark protects the living tissue of the tree during a fire, while the seeds germinate best on soils exposed by fire. Unlike other pines, pitch pines are also able to sprout from both roots and trunks.

Historically, it is thought that the Ossipee Pine Barrens burned every 25 to 50 years—far more frequently than other forest types. However, over time the effort to suppress fires to protect homes and property had virtually eliminated fire from this ecosystem.

In 2005, after thorough research, The Nature Conservancy launched a comprehensive project to sustain the Ossipee Pine Barrens using a combination of mechanical vegetation management and controlled burning. This effort restores and maintains the unique habitat found here and helps reduce the threat of wildfire to the surrounding towns. Carefully controlled burns eliminate dangerous accumulations of leaf litter and flammable vegetation that could burn out of control if set ablaze by a lightning strike. After a fire, scrub oak and blueberry produce vigorous new growth which provides a highly nutritious food source for wildlife, including rare moths and butterflies—five species of which are found nowhere else in New Hampshire. Like the plants, these insects have evolved with fire; some survive the burn season by burrowing into the soil.

You Can Be a Citizen Scientist!

These lands serve not only as a unique place to hike and explore, but also as a living laboratory for student education and scientific study. Research adds tremendous value to the work and isn’t limited to students and scientists. You can also participate in collecting valuable data to assist with conservation and management efforts just by using your smartphone or camera! While on your preserve hike, help the Nature Conservancy learn more about the plants and animals on the preserve by documenting what you see on the iNaturalist page. You can also visit a Picture Post. Each post guides visitors to photograph a location in nine orientations. Photos are dated, geotagged, uploaded and shared online to assist in environmental monitoring. The process is easy, and instructions are located right on the Picture Post. For Picture Post locations, see the map on page 36. For more on all the ways you can engage with the preserves, visit http://naturenh.org/CitSci.

TRAILS OF THE OSSIPEE PINE BARRENS

Distances are one way from trailhead unless noted as loops.

Route 41—West Branch Trailhead

Accessible Trail—Approximately 1 mile (green/yellow blazes). Five feet wide and nearly flat with a surface of compacted crush gravel, this trail is ideal for people of all abilities, larger groups, strollers and wheelchairs. It offers an easy excursion through classic pitch pine-scrub oak barrens, crossing under a powerline just before reaching an observation platform overlooking the West Branch of the Ossipee River at the terminus of the trail.

Pine Barrens Trail—0.7 miles (red blazes). This trail, a Class VI Town Road, cuts across the West Branch Pine Barrens from the Route 41 kiosk to East Shore Drive near the south end of Silver Lake. Note: This is NOT a loop trail.
Cooks Pond Forest Loop Trail—2.4 miles (green and yellow blazes). This loop meanders through oak forest, pitch pine-scrub oak woodland and eskers, providing views of Cooks Pond and its associated wetlands.

Cooks Pond Forest Loop Cut-Off—(red blazes). This trail cuts about 0.5 mile off the Cooks Pond Forest Loop.

Jackman Ridge Summit Trail—1 mile (red blazes). Follow this trail to the summit of Jackman Ridge and see filtered views to the north. Turn this into a loop hike by continuing east past the summit and down toward the Madison Town Forest Loop Trail before walking back along Lead Mine Road (adds 2 miles).

Madison Town Forest Loop Trail—0.75 mile (red blazes). This short walk traverses wetlands adjacent to areas recently (2014) treated with prescribed fire through a partnership between The Nature Conservancy and the town of Madison. This trail also provides alternate access to the Jackman Ridge Summit Trail.

Ossipee Lake Road—Jackman Ridge Trailhead

Jackman Ridge Lookout Loop Trail—2.3 miles (green and yellow blazes). This moderately uphill trail leads to a viewpoint looking south of Ossipee Lake to the Ossipee Mountains and a sweeping view west of the Ossipee Pine Barrens Preserve.

Forest Ecology Loop Trail—1.2 miles (red blazes). This flat hike winds through pitch pine-scrub oak woodland recently (2013) treated with prescribed fire.

West Branch Trail—3.2 miles (orange blazes). A popular snowmobile trail, this path begins at Camp Calumet Conference Center. Following the West Branch of the Ossipee River, it traverses through pitch pine, white pine and hardwood forests. The trail ends at East Shore Drive across from the boat access at the south end of Silver Lake. Note: This is NOT a loop trail.

DIRECTIONS TO THE OSSIEPE PINE BARRENS

West Branch Trailhead

From the junction of Route 16 and Route 41 in Ossipee, follow Route 41 North for approximately 2 miles. The preserve entrance will be on the right (east) side of the road across from the entrance to Black Birch Lane.

Cooks Pond Trailhead

From Route 41 North, turn right onto East Shore Drive. Follow the road for 1.1 miles and turn right onto Lead Mine Road. Drive for approximately 0.4 mile to the pull-off and trailhead located on the right side of the road.

Jackman Ridge Trailhead

From Route 41 North, turn right onto Ossipee Lake Road. Drive approximately 2.1 miles, and the parking area and trailhead are located on the left side of the road.

As the snow melts, everything starts to transform – and rapidly! Streams turn into gushing torrents and fishing season opens, plants begin to emerge, and migratory birds return. Sap begins to flow in the trees and the sweet smell of maple sugar wafts from local sugar houses – usually open in March for a delicious treat of sugar-on-snow. Slip on your mud boots, swing your binoculars across your shoulder, pack up the camera and fishing gear, and get outside.

Summer

The perfect blend of mountains, valleys, lakes and rivers invites the summer visitor to do all or nothing. Take a hike or a nap, play a round of golf or cards, sail a boat or sit around a campfire, rummage around antiques stores or catch up with friends at a local restaurant – there’s so much from which to choose!

This is the season of fairs, festivals and concerts, a time for full moon kayaking, picking berries for homemade pies, conquering peaks and kicking up your heels at a contra dance. It’s also a chance to rejuvenate, to swing in a hammock, rock on your porch, spread your towel on a sandy beach, watch the eagles fishing and listen to the call of the loons.
You'll find every conceivable winter recreation here from miles of maintained snowmobile trails, groomed ski hills and untouched woods for bushwhacking in your snow shoes. The lakes and ponds transform into glistening mirrors of ice, luring fishermen, skaters and cross-country skiers. Hiking trails transform into multi-purpose byways - you may even get to see a sled dog race in action!

Winter time is holiday season and most area towns celebrate with traditional concerts and open-house craft fairs where you'll find gifts for everyone on your list, and you will have the added pleasure of meeting the person who made it.

Leaf peeping season is awesome and abundant, with nature’s bounty on full display to tantalize all your senses. Taste the delicious and nutritious produce from small area farms. Capture the sights of the spectacular landscape in your photos or memories.

The area’s scenic roads wind through hills ablaze in color and past small farms offering apples, honey, pumpkins and grass-raised dairy and meats. Pick up a copy of the area’s antiques touring map from the GOACC information booth and find yourself a genuine piece of local history to take home.

The Sandwich Fair is the last of NH’s agricultural fairs, held every Columbus Day weekend in Center Sandwich. It attracts young and old from near and far with its domestic animal events, produce displays, rides, games, a parade and of course, fair food!

Sandy Allan purchased Beaver Hollow campground in 2007. After numerous necessary infrastructure investments, such as replacing the power system and adding a new pool, Sandy has been able to rejuvenate the Campground and bring added economy to the area. He began with just two employees and now has 7 seasonal staff, managed by Jean Hewitt. The staff strives to provide a family friendly camping adventure to their 135 sites.

In 2014, Sandy and staff wanted to contribute in some way to the community. They began the campground’s summer series of fundraisers to benefit the Jimmy Fund. Donations are raised by campers, staff, and volunteers completely within Beaver Hollow Campground. Sandy and Jean work to gather prize donations from local businesses. Campers and staff also make donations. Over Labor Day weekend the staff runs games and events such as Golf Cart races, T-shirt sales, bingo, and motorcycle rides. Labor Day weekend is a big earning event culminating in the Duck Dunk. The idea is taken from the popular Duck Race. However, Beaver Hollow style has the ducks placed in the campground pool. One of the staff then rides the slide into the pool and the first duck grabbed is the winning duck!

In 2015, Beaver Hollow Campground decided to focus even more locally on the summer series fundraiser recipients. Their donations since have been split between the Jimmy Fund and the GOACC’s Higher Education Scholarship Fund. To date, the GOACC’s Scholarship has received just over $17,500.00 from Beaver Hollow.

People who know Sandy have said he is a fantastic man to work for. He is a very nice guy, and he runs a family-friendly campground. Sandy cares about his staff, and campers alike. His priorities are safety for his campers and keeping the focus on a family oriented campground; Sandy and his team work in a collaborative way to promote a family friendly stay at Beaver Hollow Campground.
Chamber Business Person of the Year: GERARD COSTANTINO

Gerard Costantino started in the real estate business 24 years ago with a small firm, and in the local Ossipee RE/MAX. In 2009, during the recession, Gerard opened Costantino Real Estate LLC. At that time it was Gerard and two other realtors. Today, Costantino Real Estate has 9 agents and he has been fortunate enough to have top market share locally.

Costantino Real Estate has been a strong supporter of the GOACC through Gold Sponsorship of the Annual Scholarship Fund Golf Tournament and our other fundraisers. In addition, Gerard supports many local community events such as; the Cornerstone Academy, Celebrate Life and the Bearcamp Valley School.

One of the first things Gerard learned when new to the business was how important it was to stay connected locally through various events and activities, such as the Greater Ossipee Area Chamber of Commerce.

As a continuous supporter of community, Gerard has shown his pride in the Chamber’s growth and accomplishments over the years. He continues to recommend the GOACC membership to business leaders he meets, knowing they will get back their investment in our community.

His peers praise him as a supportive leader, with a good sense of humor, which makes for an excellent work atmosphere.
When first chartered in November 1977 the Greater Ossipee Area Chamber of Commerce (GOACC) committed to its members and the community at large to stimulate economic, cultural and recreational interests within the townships of Effingham, Freedom, Madison, Ossipee, Sandwich and Tamworth. As we continue to sustain this vision by constantly monitoring and striving to improve the business environment locally, the current GOACC Board of Directors works extremely hard to publicize and promote in a tasteful manner the commercial interests and attractions of our beloved area.

Business owners are encouraged to participate in many GOACC projects and events, designed not only to highlight and promote their own company initiatives, but also intended to capture the collective entrepreneurial spirit of our neighborhood.

Each year scholarship monies are presented by the Greater Ossipee Area Chamber of Commerce to adult students.

The object is to offer financial assistance in the form of scholarships to area residents who will be attending higher education institutions in the fall of each year. Eligible people must physically reside in the towns of Effingham, Freedom, Madison, Ossipee, Sandwich, or Tamworth and be pursuing a higher education degree/certification.

Applications are available online at www.ossipeevalley.org
The Greater Ossipee Area Chamber of Commerce believes in supporting the educational goals of area residents. For the past 19 summers, the GOACC has held an 18 hole golf tournament at the Indian Mound Golf Club in Ctr. Ossipee to raise funds for scholarships, which are awarded to area adults students in higher education programs. In June 2019 $11,000 was awarded to students. The GOACC Golf Tournament is open to the public and all levels are welcome. We are celebrating the 20th Anniversary Tournament on Friday, August 28th, 2020. It will be a fun filled day with competition, socializing, breakfast, lunch and lots of prizes. Indian Mound Golf Course is once again the host location. Registration starts at 7:00 am and shotgun start is at 8:30 am. Competitors and sponsors have a great day of golf while contributing to a scholarship program to assist local adult students obtain degrees/certifications. The GOACC thanks the 2019 sponsors, volunteers and the players who participated in the tournament. For more information on how to sign up for the tournament, be a sponsor and to volunteer, email: info@ossipeevalley.org or sign up online at www.ossipeevalley.org/golftournament.html. Updates on the tournament can be found on FB: Greater Ossipee Area Chamber of Commerce.
Website

The GOACC website www.ossipeevalley.org is an invaluable tool for members and visitors alike. With cutting edge, industry proven traffic driving initiatives, the pages of the website are popping up high on the lists of search engines all over the internet. The Greater Ossipee Area Event page, flashing banner ads, and reciprocal links are examples of GOACC’s ongoing commitment to the marketing medium of the future. Each member is listed on the site, with a short description and a link back to their own website where more detailed information can be found.

The website doubles as a resource for both member businesses, residents and visitors alike. Feel free to visit www.ossipeevalley.org and click away!

Events

The Greater Ossipee Area and its Chamber members host events throughout the year for the community and visitors to attend. Listed in the guidebook’s calendar are some of the many happenings for every season. To find more events in the area go to: www.ossipeevalley.org/events.html. In addition, the GOACC manager is sharing information every day on Face Book: Goa Chamber.

Business Expos

Throughout the year, the Chamber hosts a “Business to Business Expo” showcasing five to six of our members as exhibitors, and catered by a member business. The Board of Directors believes it is more productive to offer fewer, higher quality events, to provide valuable networking opportunities to member businesses and the public.

- Multiple owners can now showcase their businesses by sponsoring an event.
- With many people invested in the success of the event, better attendance and more participation occur.
- Because of increased attendance, better networking opportunities have been created for our members.

There is a buzz within the valley that a GOACC event should not be missed. If you would like a chance to “meet and greet” with the business leaders of the GOACC, check out the schedule at ossipeevalley.org and join us at our next Business Expo!
